Title: Harry Potter and the Half-blood Prince

Author: J.K. Rowling

Summary:

The book is about Harry Potter, who is going to his 6th year at Hogwarts. He lives in the summer holidays at the Dursleys, with his aunt Petunia and his uncle Vernon. In the middle of the summer Dumbledore picks up Harry and they go to the Weasley's. After the summer holidays they went to school ('Hogwarts'). Harry, Ron and Hermione always hang out together at school. They have almost all subjects together. There is 'Defence against dark arts', 'Charms', 'Herbology', 'Potions', and so on. Harry's enemy Draco Malfoy, is doing something (not good) at Hogwarts and Harry wants to know what. But he doesn't have much free time to search what Draco is doing, because he has a lot of homework and he has special lessons with Dumbledore. When it's spring Harry is on a trip with Dumbledore because they are trying to defeat Voldemort, the guy who wants to rule the whole world, and they kill one of his 7 horcruxes (one of the pieces of Voldemort's life). But when they return to Hogwarts, Draco Malfoy kills Dumbledore. Harry tries to kill Draco, but he doesn't succeed. At the funeral of Dumbledore, Harry says that he is going to kill Voldemort and Draco, but first he must go to the Dursleys so that he is still protected with his mother's love.
